New Jury List Asked By Judge Reynolds

Entire Venire Quashed in Circuit Court

Judge Orders County Board to Get New Jury Lists

Circuit Judge C. Ross Reynolds this morning quashed the entire venire of Saline county jurors after hearing evidence on a petition challenging the array of jurors which asked that the venire be quashed.

The motion came in the case of Ruby Nelson et al. vs. J. C. Harper et al. scheduled to be heard in circuit court Monday.

The task of getting new jury lists was thrown back to the county board and the lawsuit, arising from a motor vehicle collision, was removed from the setting.

The charge in the motion was that the county had failed to comply with provisions of the Illinois Jurors act.

Evidence brought before the court was that on July 28, 1955, an order was entered by the three circuit courts of the district and the city judges of Harrisburg and Eldorado which fixed the number of persons to serve as petit jurors during the year following at 900 persons and directed the county board of supervisors to select the number from the master jury made by the board.

The evidence was brought out that there had been no master list, which should contain 10 percent of the legal voters of the county or about 2,100 names, for several years, and that the list turned in by the board to the county clerk, from which the jury members are drawn from the box, contained only about 750 names instead of the ordered 900.

Judge Reynolds said that under the circumstances he would have to allow the motion and said that the county board must get busy to have a master list and the 900-member jury list approved by the board before the December term of circuit court begins.

Improper Procedure

It was suggested that the chairman of the board appoint a committee of two to work on these lists so that the master list and the jury list of 900 be approved when the county board meets Thursday, Oct. 20.

Judge Reynolds said that there must be a master list made every two years. It also was pointed out that there were known cases of improper procedure in getting jury lists, such as supervisors asking attorneys if they had any choices of persons for jury duty, and of citizens soliciting supervisors for jury duty. Both are illegal, it was stated.

However, it was added, most supervisors have not been clear on the proper procedures of getting up jury lists and it was suggested that the state's attorney or other person familiar with the procedure advise board members on the correct thing to do.

From the jury list ordered by the judge, the panel for a term is selected by the circuit clerk and county judge, who draw the names out of a box blindfolded.

Funeral Services Wednesday 2 p. m. for Mrs. William Gross

Funeral services for Mrs. William Gross who died yesterday at 8:15 a. m. at her residence, 1001 South Granger, will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Gaskins funeral chapel where the body now lies in state. Rev. William Burroughs, Presbyterian pastor, will conduct the service and burial will be in Sunset Lawn cemetery.

Run by Fire Department

The fire department made a run at 12:35 p. m. yesterday to the home of Phillip Howard, 201 East McHaney street, where damage was confined to the floor. Fire Chief L. G. Martin said Howard had built a fire in a legless heating stove and had only a sheet of thin metal between it and the floor.

Judge Braude to Address County Teachers Friday

Judge J. M. Braude

Principal speaker at the Saline County Teachers Institute to be held Friday at the Harrisburg Township high school will be Judge J. M. Braude, for seven years presiding judge of Chicago's famous boys' court.

At the morning session he will speak on the subject, "Let's Look at Youth," and in the afternoon his subject will be "I Like Bad Boys."

Judge Braude, born and educated in the public schools of Chicago, has gained fame not only for his interest and achievements in the field of youth problems, but as a forceful, fluent speaker who inspires and stimulates his audiences whenever he appears.

He has attracted nationwide attention for his inspired handling of the Boy Problem. To him there is no such thing as a natural "bad boy." He believes a boy is frequently made bad by surrounding circumstances and all too often by not being given a chance.

According to his philosophy, in those cases it is not the boy who is wrong, but merely the things which he has been doing which are wrong.

Mrs. Harry Gleyre, 81, Carrier Mills Resident, Dies

Mrs. Sarah M. Gleyre, 81, wife of Harry Gleyre of North Main street in Carrier Mills, died at 8:50 p. m. yesterday in the Lightner hospital.

The funeral will be Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Church of God on North Main street. The pastor, Rev. Cordell Ellis, assisted by Rev. P. F. Fritz, will officiate and burial will be in Salem cemetery.

She leaves the following children: Mrs. Kate Elms, Carrier Mills; Mrs. Nancy Lewis, Carrier Mills; Bill Gleyre, Marion; Ethel Blue, Harrisburg; Mrs. Edna Wathen, Harrisburg; and Oleta McDannel, Detroit, Mich.; 12 grandchildren, 16 great grandchildren and one great grandchild.

One son, Louie, preceded her in death, dying in 1947.

The members of Mrs. Gleyre's Sunday school class will be flower girls.

Pallbearers will be grandsons Richard Raloff, Ferrell Lewis, Norval Elms, Richard Blue, Jimmie Gleyre and Jack Rose.

The body now lies in state at the Thornton funeral home in Carrier Mills.

Rites at Golconda Wednesday for Miss Blaine Boicourt

Funeral services for Miss Blaine Boicourt, former local music teacher who died Sunday morning at Normal, Ill., will be Wednesday at 3 p. m. at the Rottman funeral chapel in Golconda where the body lies in state. Rev. John McDowell, pastor of the Golconda Presbyterian church, will officiate and burial will be in the Odd Fellows cemetery.

Jacob W. King, Rosiclar, has been appointed field man for the Southern Illinois University Alumni office, Robert Odaniell, alumni office director, announced today.

King, a graduate of SIU in 1951, has been a field representative for the Iowa Farm Bureau, Sigourney, Ia., since graduation. He was born at Baxter Springs, Kan. During World War II he served four years in the U. S. Air Force, becoming an airplane commander with the rank of first lieutenant. He is married and has one child.

Transportation Strike Hits St. Louis Area

Walk Out Proceeds Despite Seizure Order by Governor

ST. LOUIS — A strike of AFL bus drivers halted all public transportation here today despite state seizure of the St. Louis Public Service Co.

Automobile and truck traffic piled up for blocks at intersections and crawled in low gear when it was able to move during the morning rush hour.

All traffic police were called out to speed the flow of cars and restrictions on parking, where it could be found, were relaxed.

The bus and street car operators walked out Monday night after rejecting a recommendation for a 12 cents an hour increase made by an arbitration panel.

Gov. Phil M. Donnelly ordered the utility seized by the state under Missouri's King-Thompson Act at 6 a. m. CST. He ordered officers and members of the union, the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees, Local 738, to resume operations.

Call Union Meeting

By mid-morning, however, the strike still was in effect. The union's executive committee, however, met to consider the seizure order and a meeting of the membership was called.

The King-Thompson Act provides a $10,000 fine per day against any union which fails to comply with the back-to-work order. It further provides a fine of a flat $1,000 against any union officer who fails to comply.

In effect, the invocation of the act provides merely that union members return to work as employees of the state rather than the company pending arbitration of their dispute by the State Mediation Board.

The sudden walkout of the strikers has cut off public transportation for 1½ million persons in the St. Louis area.

The strike was called late Monday night at a mass meeting of employees of the Public Service of St. Louis. It went into effect immediately and bus and streetcar transportation came to a dead halt within a few hours.

Drivers and operators were allowed to complete their runs, and a few bus drivers even insisted on taking their vehicles out of the barns after the strike order. But the walkout became 100 per cent effective during the early morning hours.

Washington Crippled Earlier

St. Louis thus became the third major city in the nation to be crippled by a transit strike this year. Earlier walkouts stopped public transportation at Washington, D. C., and Los Angeles.

The contract between the union's local 738 and the company, a subsidiary of National City Lines Inc., expired last March 1. The union members, who make an average of $1.87 per hour, demanded a 26-cent hourly pay boost. The company made no counter-offer and the state mediation board appointed a panel to hold hearings and make recommendations.

The three-man panel announced its decision at the state capital at Jefferson City Monday night. It suggested a 12-cent across the board pay increase, but both the company and union protested.

Members Ask Help In Rebuilding Liberty Baptist Church

The members of Liberty Baptist church are issuing a call for help financially to rebuild the church which was destroyed by fire early Friday morning.

The building was a complete loss except for a small amount of insurance.

Those wishing to contribute are asked to send donations to Pearl Horton, Irene Langford, Cecil Gibbs, all of Harrisburg RFD 2, or L. B. Malone, Harrisburg RFD 1.

Harry Powell is treasurer of the building fund.

Eddie Seright is Injured in Auto Accident at Decatur

Eddie Seright of 111 West Walnut Street, Harrisburg, a student at James Millikin university, Decatur, was injured in an automobile accident at Decatur last night, suffering head and chest injuries.

Complete details were not available, but it was learned that at least four vehicles were involved. He is a patient at the Decatur-Macon County hospital in Decatur and his mother, Mrs. Catherine Seright, left for Decatur at dawn this morning.

Ike May Refuse Open Air Due to 'Copter Incident

DENVER — President Eisenhower may refuse to get out in the open air and sunshine, which his doctors say he needs to hasten his recovery, if any more attempts are made to photograph him from a helicopter.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty raised the possibility Monday, after a newsreel cameraman for the Columbia Broadcasting System made two passes around Fitzsimons Army hospital in a chartered helicopter.

The President was allowed out of his room and on an eighth floor terrace at Fitzsimons Monday for the first time since his heart attack Sept. 24. He had been pushed back into his room in his bed by the cameraman, Coy Watson, tried to make the pictures.

Hagerty said it was not so much a question of the President's being disturbed as his concern over hundreds of other patients' being disturbed by the churning and popping of a helicopter.

If the President gets it in his mind that he is the cause of disturbance to other patients, he won't ever get out on that terrace," Hagerty said in a news conference. "He'll be deprived of the sun and air that he needs."

Hagerty said the helicopter incident is closed, as far as he is concerned.

Sig Mickelson, CBS's vice president in charge of news and public affairs, said in New York, "The President's health comes first, and we regret that some of our people were over-zealous."

Real Estate Deal By O. L. Turner and Dr. B. E. Montgomery

In a real estate deal consummated here, O. L. Turner has traded an area between the Colonial hotel and the Cummins building to Dr. B. E. Montgomery for the building housing the Grant Jewelry Co. and the South Side barber shop on the south side of the square.

Reports were that Dr. Montgomery will have an office building constructed on the ground he has secured on South Main street. Details on the building were unavailable as Dr. Montgomery was out of town.

Farm Bureau board members, county resolutions committee, county organization directors, IAA insurance personnel, farm advisers, Policy Development committee members and the wives of all are urged to attend, Mr. Rister declared.

Indicate Open Split Between Stevenson, Harriman in '56 Race

WASHINGTON — Political observers saw today new indications of an open split between two long-time friends—Adlai E. Stevenson and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York—in the fight for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination.

Harriman, who was instrumental in throwing the 1952 Democratic nomination to Stevenson, looked more and more like he would be a candidate himself next year.

The New York governor scheduled a conference today with Oklahoma Gov. Raymond Gary, reported under consideration as 1956 Democratic vice presidential nominee. Gary told reporters that Oklahoma would prefer Harriman to Stevenson.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), a Stevenson supporter, said Harriman appeared to be "dancing the minuet—first forward, then backward." Douglas referred to Harriman's recent statement that although he has repeatedly said he is "for" Stevenson he is not bound to support the former Illinois Governor.

Other political developments:

1. The Wall Street Journal said a survey of 27 Democratic state governors and other party leaders showed Stevenson "clearly in the lead" for the Democratic nomination. The survey rated Harriman a serious contender and Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) a "definite threat."

2. Agriculture Secretary Ezra T.

Margaret Truman Denies Rumors She is Engaged

NEW YORK — Margaret Truman returned to the United States today from a European tour and laughingly denied rumors that she is engaged.

Asked if a rumor was true that she planned to announce an engagement soon she said: "I'm sorry, but it isn't."

Miss Truman held a happy reunion with her famous parents when her ship, the United States, docked. Former President Truman skipped his usual morning walk in order to meet his daughter.

Reporters immediately besieged Miss Truman with questions about an engagement ring she was reported wearing.

"A what?" she said.

Miss Truman said the rumors apparently stemmed from a sapphire-diamond ring she was wearing in Britain during a news conference.

"I told them it wasn't an engagement ring," she said, "but they printed the story in the British newspapers. They wouldn't believe me. They don't know me like you do."

Fire Breaks Out In Freeman Mine

WATSONVILLE, Ill. (UP) — A small fire broke out early today in the Freeman Coal Mining Corporation's Orient Mine No. 3. The company said no one was hurt and damage was slight.

The fire was reported to be about 810 feet below ground 1½ miles from the main shaft. Mine rescue teams from Du Quoin and Benton went to the scene.

It was reported the teams planned to seal off the passage in which the fire was burning, and if necessary to seal the main shaft.

In Chicago, Henry Crown, chairman of the company's board, said damage was slight and the blaze "amounted to nothing."

Sec'y Humphrey Predicts GOP Will Sweep Elections

CHICAGO — Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey predicted Monday night that Republicans on all levels would sweep to election victories next year because of the party's record.

However, he said, campaign workers will have to get out and work hard to insure victory.

Addressing a $100-a-plate fund raising dinner, Humphrey recited achievements of the Eisenhower administration. He said these included the ending of the Korean War, the ending of economic controls and the reduction of taxes.

Humphrey reiterated previous statements that the federal budget might be balanced this fiscal year.

The dinner, attended by 1,800 persons, brought an estimated $180,000 into GOP campaign coffers.

Gov't to Delay Paying Costs To Dixon-Yates

WASHINGTON — The government will delay paying settlement costs on the cancelled Dixon-Yates power contract until it decides whether the contract was legally valid.

Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission said Monday "there may be a question" as to the contract's validity stemming from the "conflict of interest" issue raised by a Senate investigating committee. He said the government is studying the matter.

His disclosure was contained in a letter to Chairman Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM) of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy committee.

The "conflict of interests" issue concerned the role played by New York investment banker Adolph H. Wenzel in the contract negotiations. The Senate committee had charged Wenzel acted as both consultant to the government and as an executive of the firm which handled the Dixon-Yates financing arrangements.

Strauss said the AEC has been talking with Dixon-Yates officials about terminating the contract.

Experts have estimated that the money the AEC would have to pay to Dixon-Yates as cancellation damages would run into the millions of dollars.

The contract provided that Dixon-Yates, a private utility group, build a steam generating plant at West Memphis, Ark., which would feed power into the Tennessee Valley Authority system to replace power furnished by TVA to AEC installations.

President Eisenhower ordered the contract cancelled last July after the city of Memphis, Tenn., decided to build a municipal lower plant to meet the area's needs. The contract provided that Dixon-Yates receive settlement payments if the contract were cancelled.

Raymond Field Named To County Welfare Services Committee

Garrett W. Keaster, executive secretary of the Illinois Public Aid commission, today announced the appointment of Raymond Field of Carrier Mills to the Saline County Welfare Services committee, replacing Robert Whitney of Carrier Mills, whose term expired.

Draft Reply To Bulganin on Soviet Proposal

Secretary Remains With President For 25 Minutes

DENVER — President Eisenhower in the longest business session since he suffered a heart attack cohabited today with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in drafting an interim reply to the disarmament proposals of Soviet Prime Minister Nikolai Bulganin.

The letter, drafted in a 25-minute conference in Mr. Eisenhower's hospital suite, will be sent to Bulganin Wednesday or Thursday and released for publication once the American government knows the Soviet leader has received it.

Dulles originally was scheduled to spend only 15 minutes with the President, but with the approval of the doctors, he remained in Mr. Eisenhower's room for 25 minutes. After the meeting, doctors checked the President's pulse and blood pressure and found that the extended conference had produced no change in Mr. Eisenhower's condition.

Cover Many Topics

Dulles, who is returning to Washington by air this afternoon, took up an eight-point agenda with the chief executive. Because of the security nature of some of the points, the entire agenda was not released, but Dulles said the topics he covered with the President included the reply to Bulganin, preparation for the Oct. 27 meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers in Geneva, and recent Russian activities in the Middle East, involving Czechoslovakian supply of arms to Egypt.

In their 7 a. m. MST (8 a. m. CST) bulletin his doctors reported:

"The President slept soundly last night for eight hours. He feels refreshed and cheerful this morning. His condition continues to progress satisfactorily without complications."

Rest on Terrace

The President appeared to be steadily on the mend from his Sept. 24 attack. He turned out a sizeable spurt of work in a brief bedside session late Monday. And he was greatly enjoying the long-awaited privilege of leaving his hospital bed for getting some sunshine and fresh air on the hospital's eighth floor terrace.

Eisenhower was wheeled from his hospital room for the first time Monday for a 20-minute rest in his bed on an eighth-floor sun terrace at Fitzsimons Army Hospital. His doctors have endorsed such outings whenever the weather permits.

But the first sun session touched off a furore in the temporary White House when a roaring helicopter, chartered by a Columbia Broadcasting System television news crew, circled the hospital nearby in an attempt to film the President from the sun deck. Mr. Eisenhower, however, had been wheeled inside before the helicopter arrived.

White House Press Secretary James G. Hagerty, angered by the attempt at a "sneak photograph," vehemently denounced the action in a statement to reporters. He said pictures will be permitted of the President when his doctors approve.

No Action Contemplated

Hagerty charged that the helicopter incident could have threatened the President's recovery and disturbed hundreds of other patients in the big military hospital. But Hagerty said no action would be taken against the pilot or CBS. CBS said it regretted the incident.

Political Puzzle

Editorial By Bruce Blossat
Politics being what it is, speculation over whether President Eisenhower will run again is bound to go on. Some of it is foolish and even unseemly, but evidently there is no help for that.

We will not here join in the game, except to consider one important phase of the problem which will face the Republicans should the President decide against running.

The first necessity, obviously, would be to find another candidate. The second would be to find means of bringing Mr. Eisenhower's great political magic into effective play in behalf of that candidate. This is the aspect we shall look into now.

Let us suppose for a starter that the President, having determined at some point not to run, would exert strong influence on selection of a possible successor, that his choice would win the nomination and go into the 1956 campaign with his fullest blessing.

There is utterly no proof that the magic would rub off on the new nominee. One of the most hazardous maneuvers in politics is the attempt to transfer strength from one man to another. It seldom if ever works in national conventions. And our history offers no clear-cut instance of it working with the electorate.

Not that it might not happen. In the last two and a half decades the American people have been led by two Presidents, Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Eisenhower, who had a great grasp on their affections. No one knows what would have resulted had Mr. Roosevelt tried to pass his mantle directly to an "her apparent" who had his personal blessing. No one now can be sure what will occur if Mr. Eisenhower should try it.

On the other hand, suppose the President did not attempt it. Who ever the new GOP nominee would be, he still would run on Mr. Eisenhower's record, both legislative and executive. From this there would indeed be no escape.

Insofar as the voters might judge the record good, this would seem a hopeful prospect to the Republicans. Party leaders are saying now that any one of a number of men could lead the GOP to victory on Mr. Eisenhower's record of "peace and prosperity."

But, in truth, this is just keep-up-the-front talk. They do not know and cannot know that the voters would give anyone other than Mr. Eisenhower himself credit for his record.

It should be remembered that by the time of the 1954 general elections—for choice of a new Congress—some parts of that record were already made. Most particularly, the unpopular Korean war had been ended. Yet, while the President may perhaps have staved off a worse defeat, he could not put over a GOP Congress.

Some party men understand the problem thoroughly, but others find it convenient to forget this uncomfortable reality.

Surely for the realists it must be all work and no fun in high party councils these uncertain days.

Supreme Court to Decide on Prosecution For 'Featherbedding'

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Supreme Court today agreed to decide whether a union can be prosecuted under the federal anti-racketeering law for "featherbedding"—demanding that an employer pay wages for fictitious or superfluous services.

The high court will soon schedule arguments and later hand down an opinion on the case, which involves the Granite City, Ill., local of the AFL International Hod Carriers Union.

Sometimes the President's Burden Isn't Too Bad

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON SAYS:
Prime Minister Eden asked for an official announcement of Princess Margaret's marriage; Ike's friends consider his illness a lucky break; It Strengthens His Ability To Say "No" To The Politicians.

WASHINGTON. — You can look for an official announcement from Queen Elizabeth fairly soon that her sister, Princess Margaret, will marry Peter Townsend, the dashing 40-year-old divorced flier. Prime Minister Anthony Eden worked out details for the announcement while visiting the queen at Balmoral Castle. Princess Margaret, like her uncle, the Prince of Wales, will renounce all right to the throne. Here's hoping she's happier with Captain Townsend than the Duke is with Wally Simpson today. Odds are strong that Rita Hayworth will remarry her old flame and ex-husband, Aly Khan. More dictators are in for trouble in Latin America. Dictator Stroessner of Paraguay, who gave refuge to Dictator Peron, may be looking for refuge soon himself. Colombian Ambassador Zuleta, one of the ablest envoys in Washington, is going back to Colombia because he's unhappy with his own authoritarian government. Its crackdown on Colombia's leading newspaper, El Tiempo, smacks too much of Peronism.

The new premier of Greece, Constantine Karamanlis, is not only able but a good friend of the U. S. A. Washington bigwigs were impressed with him when they met him on the George Vournas farm in Maryland some time ago.

CAPITOL NEWS CAPSULES

Missing British Spies — British newspapers have been asking their government just who tipped off the two British spies, Donald MacLean and Guy Burgess, thereby letting them get away. Here's the answer: The FBI got suspicious of the two diplomats while assigned to the British embassy in Washington. An FBI report on their activities was then turned over to the British, but British security was so lax the FBI report ended up right in MacLean's hands. That was why he and Burgess ducked behind the Iron Curtain.

He's Luck — Eisenhower's best friends now say that his illness was one of the luckiest breaks he's ever had. He didn't want to run for another term, had told Republican leaders so, but was under terrific pressure to run anyway. Now he can say "no" positively and definitely and they can't argue. He will break the news fairly early so the Republican party will have ample time to build up new men.

Molotov Says No — Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov has flatly rejected Secretary Dulles' plea to stop Czechoslovak arms to Egypt. British Foreign Minister MacMillan also protested to Molotov even more vigorously than Dulles. But the stony-faced old Bolshevik wouldn't budge. He claimed Czechoslovakia is an independent country, has the right to trade where it wishes, kept referring to the arms shipment as "commercial exports."

WASHINGTON PIPELINE

Here's the unique record of Assistant Secretary of Commerce Lohr Tector, president-on-leave of the Perfect Circle Company in northern Indiana where eight men were shot during a strike last week. As a member of the Indiana state legislature from 1945 to 1951 Tector voted against workmen's compensation amendments, against the state labor relations act, against the wage-hour law, against equal pay for equal work, against the state public housing act, against the fair employment practices act, but voted for picketing and segregation. The amazing thing is that a man of his background would get a key post in the Eisenhower administration. His appointment highlights the long going battle between Secretary of Labor Mitchell and anti-labor Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks. . . now raising some money for the Truman library, so Harry feels better. . . The ex-President will go to the Democratic convention as a mere floor delegate in the Missouri delegation. He wants it that way. . . Harold Stassen, now White House adviser on disarmament, has received a phone call from Minneapolis that his supporters are ready to open Stassen-for-president headquarters immediately.

ADLAI-ADLAI-ESTES
Judge Sam Rosenman, former

FBI braintrust, now helping to mastermind the Averell Harriman band wagon, consulted ex-Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman the other day about Harriman's chances for the Democratic nomination.

"I'm an Adlai Stevenson man myself," Chapman replied, "but I'll be glad to report what I find out around the country."

Some time later Chapman phoned Rosenman to report on the general political situation, and among other things remarked:

"If Adlai goes into the California primary, and Kefauver goes in too, Adlai will get clobbered."

"Suppose Harriman goes in too?" suggested Rosenman.

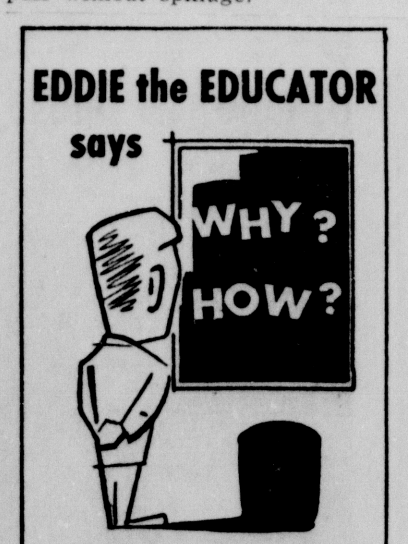

"Then both Adlai and Averell will get clobbered—only worse."

Political signs-of-the-times — Judson Moorehouse, whom Tom Dewey made New York Republican state chairman, has been going through upstate New York proposing the "unit rule" for the New York delegation at the next GOP convention. He recalls that four N. Y. delegates held out for Taft against Dewey in 1952. . . With Moorehouse such a strong Dewey man, politicians interpret this as a sign Tom wants to run again, and wants air-tight control over the N. Y. delegation. . .

Taffites are waiting for Congressman Carroll Reece of Tennessee to get home from Europe to organize the anti-Dewey bloc. Carroll is considered the best anti-Dewey organizer in the right wing of the GOP. . . Dick Nixon is really having rough going with his fellow Californian, Governor Goody Knight. Nixon may not know it yet, but Knight intends to dog Nixon's footsteps on a speaking tour, speak in every city Nixon speaks in before the convention. . . Harry Truman has finally consented to attend a dinner given by Ed Pauley — despite the fact that Pauley has become very palsy-walsy with Nixon and threw a big shindig for Nixon. Truman cancelled two dinners in California because Pauley was involved—thereby costing the Democrats about $100,000. — Pauley is

Jeffery Kent Whiting Celebrates Second Birthday

Little Jeffery Kent Whiting, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Whiting, celebrated his birthday with a party given Saturday in honor of the occasion at his parents' home.

As the little guests arrived they were given favors of suckers, bubble gum and candy.

Several amusing games were played and prizes were won by Dixie Dering, Sharon Gurley, Larry Wayne Clore, Vickie Lyna Dering and Linda Oze.

Immediately after opening his many lovely gifts the little host and his guests were placed around a table centered with a birthday cake topped with two miniature cowboy candles. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ammon to the following: Janice Milburn, Peggy Hill, Carol Ann Enz, Mona Sadler, Donna McCutcheon, Sherry Mayhew, Linda Hill, Lorna Dallas, Katherine Mathews, Judy Farthing, Brenda McNew, Jean Hill, Mrs. Carrie Ammon, Mrs. Harold McNew and Mrs. Nell Pate.

Grade School P. T. A. Holds Regular Meeting

The P. T. A. held its regular meeting at the Carrier Mills grade school Monday evening with the president, Mary V. Beggs, presiding.

The P. T. A. prayer was read in unison and the minutes read and approved.

During the business meeting a report was made by the ways and means committee on a jitney supper being planned for the homecoming Nov. 4 and to serve the school children at noon.

The program chairman introduced John Murphy, assistant superintendent of schools, who spoke on the subject, "What the Home and School Have the Right to Expect of Each Other."

The program continued with Mrs. Ilda Hitchcock, music chairman, in charge. The following numbers were presented by students of Mrs. Rena Brackney: also saxophone solo by James Henry Thornton; coronet solo, Johnny Holland; clarinet solo, Simone Boulds; trumpet solo, Alice Malone; coronet solo, David Odum.

The P. T. A. banner was presented to Mrs. Delbert Waller's room for the highest percentage of parents attendance.

Mary Street had charge of a game "Dressing to Go to a P. T. A. meeting." Mrs. Seava Rodocker and her group received the prize.

Refreshments were served by the kindergarten room mothers.

First Church of God Missionary Society holds October Meeting

The Missionary society of the First Church of God had its October meeting Thursday evening,
Oct. 6, at the home of Mrs. Bess Aldridge.

The opening prayer was by Mrs.
Verba Wallace, and Mrs. Bess Aldridge followed with the lesson for the evening. Part of her lesson was in the form of a radio skit entitled, "American Indians."

The business session began with the reading of the secretary-treasurer's report by Mrs. Bea Holland.
New business included plans to buy a $25 life membership certificate for one of the members, prayer meetings to be held one afternoon each month to especially remember the missionaries, and committees were appointed to complete plans for a bazaar to be held in November.

Mrs. Verba Wallace gave the devotion, her subject being, "Hands."
She chose scripture verses from 1 Kings 8:41-46.

The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Elsie Dudley.

Immediately following the meeting a surprise pink and blue shower was held for Mrs. Evelyn Wallace. After the many lovely gifts were opened and admired, games were played and prizes won by Mrs. Dorothy Curtis and Mrs. C.
B. Wallace.

Mrs. Aldridge, assisted by Mrs.
Ethel Keneipp, served delicious refreshments of pink and blue ribbon sandwiches, potato chips, hot chocolate and coffee, with a little stork favor for each.

Others present besides those already mentioned were: Mrs. Anna Thine, Mrs. Emma Hibbs, Mrs.
Margie Alexander, Mrs. Gladys Aldridge, Mrs. Ethel Fisher, Miss Beulah Lievers, Judy Nelson, Lin-la and Timmie Hedge, and Mr.
and Mrs. John Aldridge. Special guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Fulkerson, and Mrs. C. B. Wallace.

The November meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Kathleen Rector.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Rann have returned from Michigan, where they spent five enjoyable weeks visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rann, at Drayton Plains. A trip to Niagara Falls and into parts of Canada were included in their journey, during which they met and talked with several former Saline county people. Mr. and Mrs. Don Russell visited them at the Kenneth Rann home.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD E. CAPEL who were married Sunday, Oct. 2, at the Methodist church in Carrier Mills by the pastor, Carl S.
Davis. Mrs. Capel was formerly Miss Carolyn Jenkins.
(Adolph Sweat Photo)

Miss Carolyn Jenkins, Donald E. Capel Wed at Carrier Mills Methodist

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Carolyn Jenkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
John Jenkins of Carrier Mills, and Donald E. Capel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Capel, also of Carrier
Mills.

The double ring ceremony was performed at the Methodist church in Carrier Mills by the pastor, Carl
S. Davis, Sunday afternoon, Oct.
2, at 1 o'clock.

The bride chose for her wedding a blue suit with navy accessories. She wore a corsage of white gardenias and carried a white Bible, given her by a former music teacher, Mrs. Pearl Sherman.

Mrs. William Capel of Carmi, was matron of honor, wearing a navy suit with a corsage of red roses.

Mr. Capel, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

The bride graduated from Carrier Mills high school with the class of 1954 and is employed at the Egyptian state bank in Carrier Mills. The bridegroom also graduated from Carrier Mills high school in 1953 and is employed by the Kroger Co. in Carrier Mills.

After a short wedding trip to the Missouri Ozarks they are now at home in Carrier Mills.

Farewell Party Honors Mardena Kay Carpenter

A farewell party was given for Mardena Kay Carpenter Friday afternoon by her parents and the afternoon kindergarten class at the McKinley school.

Mardena is moving to Joliet where she will reside in Mary-crest, a newly developed subdivision of Joliet. Mardena has been accepted as a pupil in St. Jude's nursery school where her small cousin, Susan Wesley, formerly of Raleigh, is also a student.

Louis Aaron Speaks on American Indians at Woman's Club Meeting

The members of the Harrisburg Woman's club met yesterday afternoon in the newly decorated club room of the public library for an interesting program on Indian Affairs directed by the chairman,
Mrs. Hughie Walker.

The meeting opened with the song "America" after which Mrs.
J. A. Bottomley gave the Club Collect and Mrs. Ray Johnson led in the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

Mrs. C. D. Ludlow, newly elected secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting and Mrs.
Hudson Mugge gave the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Walker introduced Mrs. J.
B. Clark who gave the meditation, taking her scripture from the 14th chapter of John. She closed by reading the poem, "It's a Pretty Good World."

Guest soloist for the afternoon was Vernon Joyner Jr. who sang two old Indian ballads, "The Temple Bells" and "Till I Wake," accompanied by Mrs. Hudson Mugge at the piano.

The chairman presented Louis
Aaron, president of the Saline County Historical society, who gave the history of the American Indian who came to this country 20,000 years ago and the group called the Mississippi culture which existed in this area some 2,000 years ago. Mr. Aaron told of their costumes and living habits and three main wants which were to eat, self preservation and race propagation. He closed his program by showing several colored slides of scenic places in Illinois which have been homes of Indians.

Morrison Women Hostess
To Presbyterian Lenore Circle

The Lenore circle of the First Presbyterian church met Monday evening at the home of Misses Mary and Edith Morrison.

The devotion and Year Book of Prayer were given by Mrs. Clyde Pittman. The program chairman, Mrs. Ownly Furman, presented the lesson for the evening, the topic being "Pioneering for Christ in America."

Refreshments were served to 12 members and one guest, Miss Ethel Morrison.

Annual Evergreen Garden Club Flower Show at Wesley Center Thursday

"October Glories" will be the theme of the annual flower show sponsored by the Evergreen Garden club Thursday, Oct. 13, at Wesley Center. The show will be open to the public from 1 p. m. to 4:30
p. m.

Mrs. Bruce Polk, 28 West South, is general chairman.

Exhibiting in the flower show is not limited to garden club members; all amateur gardeners and arrangers are urged to participate.

The following is a list of rules which apply to the entries:

1. Entries will be received between 8:30 a. m. and 11 a. m. October 13.

2. Exhibitors may compete in all classes, with only one entry in each class.

3. Horticultural entries must have been grown by the exhibitor.
All specimens should be correctly labeled, as in close decisions preference will be given named specimens.

4. Horticultural entries will be displayed in Coke or milk bottles.
Exhibitors will bring their own containers.

5. Arrangements must be the work of the exhibitor but material may be secured from any source.
Accessories are permitted.

6. Ribbons will be given for first, second and third awards. Each blue ribbon is valued at 10 points, red ribbon at 5 points, and white ribbon, 2 points. To the exhibitor receiving most points will be given the sweepstakes award. This award will be kept by the 1955 winner until the flower show of 1956. It will then be returned to the Evergreen Garden club for re-awarding.
Each annual winner's name will be inscribed on the award.

In the horticultural classes are:
roses, hybrid tea (must be grown disbudded, best single bloom); floribunda and polyanthus (best single stalk); chrysanthemum; gladioli; dahlias; and potted plants (which must have been grown by exhibitor at least three months).

Listed under arrangements are:
fantasy in green, various shades and textures of green; small arrangement, not to exceed 5 inches, flowers and container; an arrangement suggested by the title of a song will be judged by color harmony, distinction, design, condition, relation to title, relation to container; a monochromatic arrangement; arrangement using roadside material, basket arrangement; annuals; berried or flowering shrubs; "Peace" roses (three or more blooms); dried arrangement using any material natural or wild, may include rock or wood; arrangement of garden roses (use of other foliage permitted); arrangement of predominantly yellow to orange flowers in brass, copper or bronze container; arrangement in favorite container.

For table settings exhibitors may use a Christmas breakfast theme, Halloween luncheon and Thanksgiving dinner.

The junior exhibits will be under the direction of Mrs. H. B. Bauman.
An exhibitor may have one entry in each class; holiday arrangement, arrangement in natural container and arrangement in a bottle.

CONDUCTS REVIVAL — The Land Street Church of God is in its second week of revival with the Rev. Wayne Proctor, above, formerly of Harrisburg, as the evangelist. Services begin each evening at 7 o'clock and everyone is invited to attend. Rev. M. W. Dewitt is pastor.

A recent nation-wide survey indicates that there are at least 4 million families who don't own stocks but in the last year have thought about buying them. This advertisement is being published to help broaden understanding of the stock market, and tells how you go about investing through your broker.

What is a stock broker
...and why?

1. He helps you invest on a sound basis — first, by talking over your objectives with you. A married man investing as part of a retirement plan most likely will have different objectives from a single man who's more interested in immediate return. A partner or registered representative with a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange will be happy to discuss all such questions.

2. He has information about stocks. Your broker also can give you facts to help you make up your mind what to invest in. For example, he has information about stocks that have long growth records, stocks that have paid dividends regularly for years. All this information and advice won't cost you a penny.

3. He handles your order fast.
Your broker can usually have your order executed in a matter of minutes. He'll also hold your stock for you if you want him to.
And he'll furnish you with regular statements about your account.

4. You can have confidence in your broker. He's a man of integrity. And to become a registered representative of a Member Firm, he must pass a qualifying examination. The New York Stock Exchange has strict rules for its Member Firms as to good conduct and adequacy of capital.
Member Firms have a solvency record which surpasses even that of the nation's banks. Your broker's primary interest is your financial welfare and progress.

Get the facts first. Any Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange can supply you with information about the 1,522 common and preferred stocks and the 739 corporate bonds listed on the Exchange. But remember there are risks as well as rewards in investing—so before you invest, be sure you have adequate savings to cushion you and your family against emergencies.

Freed German Prisoners Report Five Americans in Soviet Slave Camps

BERLIN — German political prisoners freed today by the Soviets reported they had met five Americans in Soviet slave camps including an Army runaway who now wants to return to the United States and accept his punishment.

The five Americans were listed as George Green of Los Angeles, Vladimir Goltwinski of San Francisco, Jack Gorski, Bud Goldsman and Pvt. Sydney Sparks of Tenille, Ga., who fled to East Berlin from an Army stockade in Berlin in 1951.

Sparks, reported held in the slave labor camp at Potsdam, a camp from which prisoners are usually taken before their release, escaped from the Berlin guard house Dec. 4, 1951, while awaiting trial on charges he attacked and robbed a German taxi driver.

Since then the Army has accused him of being absent without leave and breaking arrest. The East German Communists reported on Dec. 28, 1951, that Sparks had asked for political asylum in East Germany.

A prisoner who talked with Sparks said the Georgia soldier had received a 25-year sentence on espionage charges. Now, he said, Sparks told him: "I want to return to the United States no matter what punishment I get."

The German Red Cross said the latest transport of prisoners totaled 527 persons, including 110 women and 11 children. Of these, 58 women, 5 children and 132 men were repatriated to West Germany, the remainder to East Germany.

The women were dressed in rags and tatters but had made a pathetic effort to improve their appearances with lipstick and cosmetics sent them in gift packages. The children, born in slave camps to unwed mothers, were brought up by the Russians and spoke only that language. The children were returned to their mothers when the women were freed.

Deny Dismissal Of Indictment on Murder Charge

MARION, Ill. — A defense attorney's request for dismissal of an indictment charging a former policeman with the murder of an ex-convict was denied here today.

The attorney for William Albert Priddy, Carverville, moved that the indictment be quashed when the 63-year-old man was arraigned Monday. The attorney said a grand jury indicted the defendant as Albert Priddy instead of using his full name.

Priddy, who was a veteran Carverville policeman, is scheduled to go on trial next Monday for the murder of Edmond Smith, 39.

Smith was killed May 21 by a shotgun charge fired through a window of the home of Earl McGowan in Carverville. Smith, who was a friend of McGowan, was sleeping in the front room of the house.

Smith was paroled last fall from Menard State Penitentiary after serving one year of a 1 to 14 year term for manslaughter.

Clean Up Strike Torn Plant For Reopening

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (UP) — Non-striking employees went back to work by the dozens at the violence-torn Perfect Circle Corp. foundry today, protected by National Guardsmen and full martial law.

It was "cleanup day" at the plant, where last Wednesday nine persons were wounded in a gun battle during a CIO United Auto Workers demonstration. The 10-week strike began over a union shop clause in a new contract.

Troopers turned the small foundry into a fortress to prevent any demonstrations. They fanned out to the Hagerstown and Richmond plants of Perfect Circle, included in a martial law declaration signed Monday by Gov. George N. Craig to prevent more bloodshed in the bitter strike.

The plant has been closed since last Wednesday, when nine persons were wounded, eight of them shot, in a pitched gun battle between 1,200 striking demonstrators and 100 non-strikers.

"There is no law against an employer operating his plant if he can and that right will be preserved by the military," Craig said. "Labor may use its economic force. They both will do it now without further violence."

UAW leaders have warned that a new crisis may boil up Wednesday when about 100 non-strikers go back to work here. Union members throughout Indiana are boiling mad, they said, and the union said it cannot be responsible for what happens if the plant re-opens.

Frohook Funeral At Equality Thursday

The funeral of Mrs. Henry Frohook, mother of Carroll Frohook of Equality, who died Sunday morning in Detroit, Mich., will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. at the A. K. Moore funeral home in Equality. Burial will be in the Elmwood cemetery.

Gallatin County Clerk's Entries Win Trophies, Ribbons at Fox Hunt

Yules Wren, county clerk of Gallatin county, entered hounds in the Kentucky Dam Fox hunt, held at Murray, Ky., and the Central City, Ky., Fox hunt show last week and came home with five trophies and 13 ribbons.

At Murray there were approximately 170 hounds representing six states and at Central City more than 100 dogs were entered.

Monday at the county clerk's office in the Gallatin county court house Mr. Wren was proudly displaying the trophies and ribbons. At the Kentucky Dam Fox hunt

Mr. Wren's dog "Bib Top" was judged best all age dog on bench and also took the trophy for best opposite sex.

At the Central City show Big Top took first place trophies as the best dog, best opposite sex and in the natural carriage competition.

In addition to the trophies Mr. Wren received seven blue, two red, two white and two pink ribbons.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. At your druggist. Money back guarantee.

Soviet Overtures to Arab States May Be Diplomatic Offensive Against West

LONDON (AP)—Western diplomats warned today that Soviet overtures to the Arab states marked the start of a major diplomatic offensive against the West just two weeks before the start of the big Four foreign ministers conference in Geneva.

At the same time, Soviet propaganda organs were spreading the theme that the Geneva "acid test" conference may be a failure and that only the West would be to blame. The official Communist Party organ Pravda accused the United States of trying to "bury the spirit of Geneva."

The Kremlin diplomatic offensive was tied to a sweeping offer of economic and technical aid to the Arab nations, a determined bid to gain a foothold in the strategic area from which it has so far been excluded.

Agents Also Promised

The offer of economic and technical aid carried with it the promise to send in agents to see that the aid was carried out properly. It followed offers of actual arms to Egypt and other Arab states and sharp Moscow rejection of Anglo-American protests against beginning an arms race in the troubled area.

American and Soviet diplomats were giving the closest study to the economic and technical aid offer, made by Soviet Ambassador Daniel Solod in Cairo. They said a first appraisal showed it was a calculated Soviet step toward penetration of the Middle East.

The latest development coincided with reports of a Syrian-Lebanese joint defense plan for an all-Arab pact. This could provide for an Arab military force armed from Communist sources.

Specter of Rival Alliance

Posed opposite this was the specter of a rival alliance of Arab nations within the four-power defense pact linking Turkey, Iraq and Pakistan with Britain. Iran may also be added shortly as a fifth member.

A defense pact between Turkey and Iraq has accused strong Egyptian opposition and has threatened to split the Arab world because of continued resentment from Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Syria—the targets of the new Soviet offer.

The West was believed considering possible counter-moves, but thus far there have been no concrete steps. Western policy was laid down as determination to avert a Middle East arms race. But with Russian insistence on arming Egypt, a solution appeared remote.

Israel has warned that it will not sit by and watch the Arab nations arm.

Benson Opposes Hog Price Supports

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson said today the government would not be "pressured" into a price support program for cattle and hogs.

"I don't believe price supports on hogs are sound," the secretary said.

"The hog industry itself advises me that supports are not needed at this time. The industry wants the department to publicize pork and that is what we are doing."

"It has been suggested that we keep ready to buy pork but only in amounts for which we have an outlet—such as the school lunch program," he added. "The department is ready at any time to step into the market when prices fall to a level that would imperil the industry."

Benson would not name a point at which the government would support hog prices. But he indicated some government action would be taken before prices fell to $11.00 a hundredweight.

COMMENDED FOR DUTY IN ALASKA

A 1c Arthur Webb of Harrisburg, stationed at Ladd Air Force Base, Alaska, was one of a group to be commended for outstanding performance of duty recently.

Members of the 5001st Installation Squadron worked nights and weekends to repair and remodel the Ladd AFB commissary. The airmen worked at the unusual hours so that the patrons of the commissary would not be inconvenienced. A 1c Webb is a member of the 5001st Maintenance Squadron.

He is the husband of Mrs. Hollie Webb, 417 West Elm street and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Webb, RFD 1, Harrisburg. He has been in service three years and at Ladd AFB for 13 months.

Sgt. Charles E. Malone, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norbit Horton, RFD 4, Harrisburg, is a member of the 4th Infantry Division in Germany. He arrived in Germany in August 1954 and is a scout in the division's 4th Reconnaissance Battalion. He has been awarded the Good Conduct medal and the UN and Korean service ribbons since entering the army in 1952. His wife, Geneva, is with him overseas.

Faure Policy in Algeria Studied By Assembly

PARIS (AP) — The National Assembly turned today to Premier Edgar Faure's handling of the tough Algerian problem—the second front of a legislative battle to topple him and his North African policy.

The assembly gave him a reprieve this weekend when it voted approval of his handling of Morocco. But it was clearly understood in the parliamentary corridors that if he failed to complete his reforms there in the next three days he was finished.

The issues in Morocco and Algeria are much the same — the Arab natives' demand for independence. Morocco is a colony with the status of a protectorate, Algeria, legally, is a part of metropolitan France but the cries for independence are just as loud there.

Faced With Two Plans

Faure was faced today whether to press forward with his plan for complete integration of Algeria into France or to back up and consider some other form such as a federal association or a dominion status that would leave Algerians free to work out their own internal affairs.

The assembly takes up formal debate of Algeria this afternoon in the first of six sessions that will end Thursday night.

Deputies already were lining up party positions on Algeria and speakers included Communist Party Secretary Jacques Duclos and Socialist Edouard Depierre.

Three-Man Council

The key to Faure's success in Morocco still appeared to be formation of a three-man regency council to replace Sultan Sidi Mohammed ben Moulay Arafat. The council would include a representative of the nationalists who seek Moroccan independence.

The fighting in Morocco continued, and more French troops poured into the protectorate to fight the "Little Rif War" on the Spanish Moroccan border.

In France itself, a French general and two colonels were suspended as result of Friday's mutiny of 600 reservists on their way to North Africa. The mutiny precipitated violent riots. The two officers were ousted on the grounds that they were partly to blame for the mutiny because they failed to explain to the reservists the urgency behind their call-up.

Army Reorganizes Reserve Divisions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is reorganizing its 25 reserve divisions with the aim of making them ready for full mobilization within six months after the outbreak of war.

It announced Monday that 10 of its reserve divisions will be built to full combat strength of 14,000 officers and men as rapidly as possible under the reserve training program voted by the last session of Congress.

The other 15 divisions will become training units charged with applying replacements to forces which would be rapidly deployed overseas in war. Three will be maneuver area commands with about 1,400 men each to supervise reserve and National Guard training maneuvers. Twelve will have cadres of 3,300 men.

Bull Pups Lose First Game; Young Rams Win, 25-0

The Harrisburg Bull Pups last night lost their first game of the football season, bowing to the Mt. Vernon freshman-sophomore team at Mt. Vernon, 25 to 0.

The Mt. Vernon backs were speedy and a number of long runs resulted against the locals.

Glen Fleming, fullback, scored early in the game on a 68-yard run and two more tallies were made in the second quarter. Bouxein, quarterback, went over from the one and the extra point was made. Fleming went over from the six with a little over a minute left in the half.

In the third quarter Fleming made the last touchdown with a five-yard smash through the line.

The Pups will entertain the Centralia freshman-sophomore team at Taylor Field next Monday night.

Parole Board Hearings on Clemency Pleas

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The State Parole and Pardon Board today held public hearings on executive clemency petitions by 13 prisoners, including Maurice Meyer, who saved his sweetheart in a sack and threw her off a Rock Island bridge.

The girl's mother urged the board to keep Meyer in prison. His brother asked for a reduction in sentence to make Meyer eligible for parole immediately.

Meyer was sentenced to 90 years in 1933 in the death of Rose Gendler, 22. Her body was found on ice beneath the bridge three days before Christmas in 1932. She had been beaten, gagged with a necktie, sewed in the burlap bag and dropped 40 feet from the bridge.

Meyer was convicted after the necktie and a ransom note written after the girl was dead were traced to him.

His brother Arnold, a Chicago manufacturer, told the board he would give his brother a job and take him into his home.

Mrs. Ella Wolfson, mother of the dead girl, told the board she "would like to see him (Maurice Meyer) kept in prison all his life."

Mrs. Wolfson wept as she handed the board members a newspaper account of the finding of her daughter's body.

The board took all 13 cases under advisement.

There were 56 cases scheduled for hearing today.

Two other cases heard were those of Vernon Masters, serving a one year sentence for adultery from Williamson county, and Fred Stowers, serving 199 years for murder from Franklin county. Masters sought a pardon on grounds that he was not legally married at the time of the offense and so could not be guilty of adultery.

Stowers' brother Ralph and two sisters from Marion asked leniency for him on grounds he has served 20 years, got a more severe sentence than two accomplices and is 59 years old.

Stowers was convicted of the murder of a policeman who caught him and the two accomplices steal slot machines.

Stanky Sees Eventual Return of Durocher To Some Post in Baseball

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Leo Durocher's eventual return to baseball was predicted today by Eddie Stanky, new manager of the New York Giants' Minneapolis farm team of the American Association.

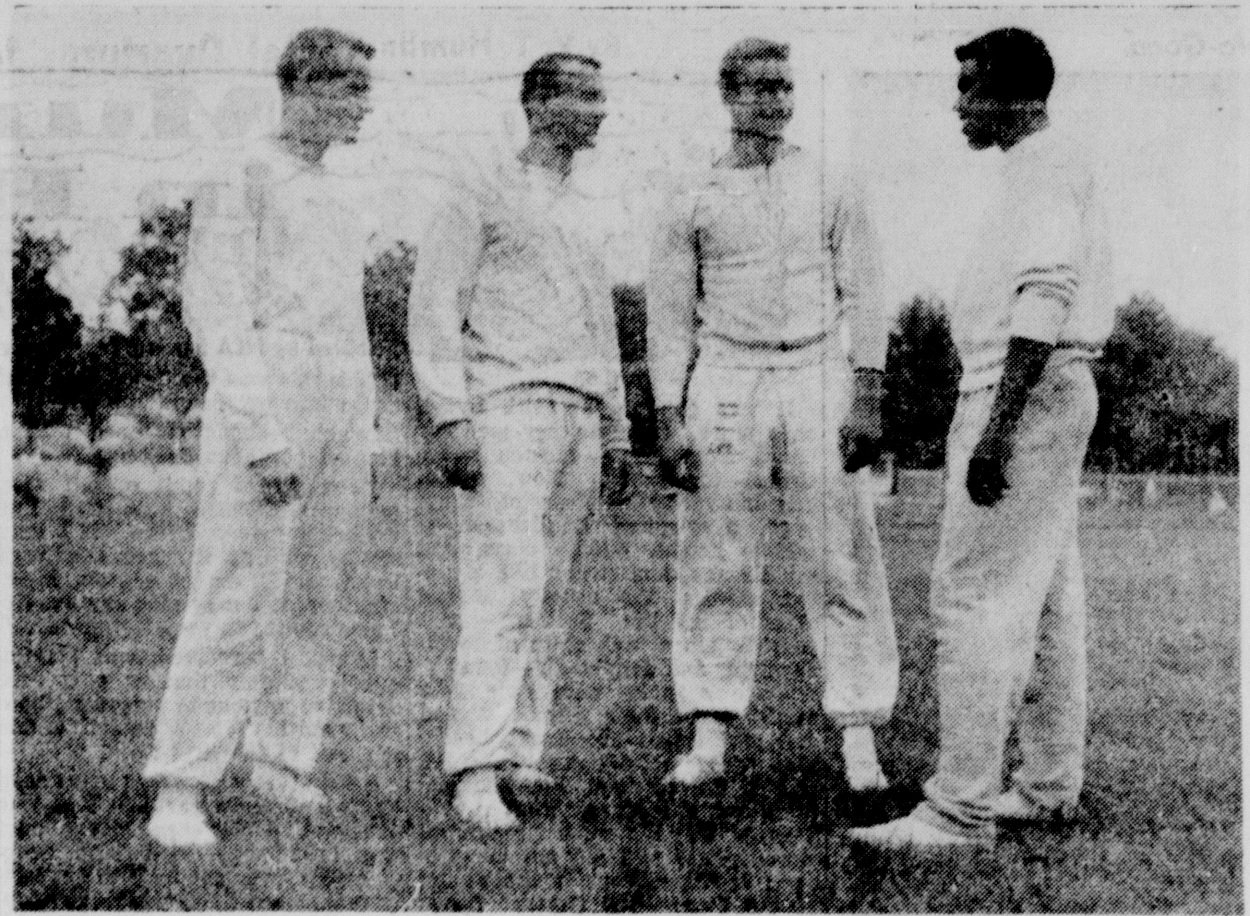

"I played for Leo for six years and I think he is a great individual," said Stanky. "He has contributed a lot to baseball and I think he'll be back in some capacity after a good vacation and an opportunity to be with his family."

Durocher recently retired from baseball after 7½ years as manager of the Giants. Bill Rigney, who managed Minneapolis last season, has replaced Durocher as Giant manager. Stanky, released in mid-season this year as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, will succeed Rigney in Minneapolis.

Junior Police Help During Rush Traffic

Their activities have been confined to the busy Main and Poplar streets intersection and have been assisting chiefly with pedestrian traffic.

RETURNING LETTERMEN—Southern Illinois University's cross country hopes rest chiefly upon these four returning lettermen: Sammy DeNeale, Harrisburg; Bobby Otto, Galatia; Larry Havens, Carbondale; and captain Howard Branch, Mounds.

Looking At Sports

By BILL MELTON

Our "you pick 'em" contestants took a beating last week when several of the southern Illinois games failed to go according to pre-game dope. The top picker right only six of ten times.

Leighman Walker, Carrier Mills jeweler, cops the crown. He was almost a winner previously, tying with others in the correct number of victories, but getting nosed out on the score in the game of the week.

Everyone lost out on the Marion-West Frankfort game. Not a picker saw the upset of West Frankfort by Marion and almost as unexpected was the McLeansboro victory over Cahokia. Bud Hamby, Daily Register linotype operator, picked the Foxes to win. And only one — Kenneth Hafford of Eldorado — predicted the Eldorado-Benton tie game. Practically everyone looked for a Benton win, although Eldorado had a backer or two.

This week's entries were featured by the first woman contestant, Harriet Bean sent in a selection. This isn't a "man only" game and we cordially invite the fair sex to compete. Come on girls, send in your guesses.

To be eligible for this week's contest you all know there is no entry fee and no prize to the winner, but fun (we hope)—the contest blank must be at The Daily Register sports desk not later than 5 p. m. Friday.

The "you pick 'em" blank for games to be played Friday, Oct. 14:
Johnston City at Marion
Mt. Vernon at W. Frankfort
Chester at Carbondale
Anna at Du Quoin
Valer at McLeansboro
Sesser at Carterville
Eldorado at Carmi
Harrisburg at Centralia
Pinckneyville at Elkville
Herrin at Benton
(Game of the Week)

Name
Address
City

Don't forget to name the score or the "game of the week."

Harrisburg plays at Centralia Friday night and during the past ten years the Bull Dogs have managed to outscore Centralia but three times.

Scores for the past decade — 1945, Centralia 19, Harrisburg 12.

1946, Centralia 14, Harrisburg 0.
1947, Centralia 13, Harrisburg 7.
1948, Centralia 6, Harrisburg 12.

VanderPlum scored for HTHS on a 62-yard jaunt and Catlin was on the scoring end of a VanderPlum to Pavelonis to Catlin pass for a TD.

1949, Centralia 25 Harrisburg 12.
1950, Centralia 0, Harrisburg 23.

The HTHS line was outstanding, in fact Tim T. in his Daily Register story said the line was a "sight to behold." Bill Herrmann scored on a 36-yard smash, Ron Ziegler passed to Bill Threud for a TD and to Frank Logsdon for another. Ziegler also kicked three points after TD and Charles Hughes, HTHS center, cracked through to down a Centralia runner in the end zone for a safety.

1951, Centralia 0, Harrisburg 6.
Floyd Showmake went 74 yards in the early part of the game for the "one TD."

1952, Centralia 14, Harrisburg 6.
1953, Centralia 38, Harrisburg 13.

1954, Centralia 30, Harrisburg 6.

THIS DAY IN ILLINOIS SPORTS HISTORY. Eight years ago, Oct. 11, 1947—Illinois and Army sparred through four quarters to no decision before 65,000 fans in Yankee Stadium, the game ending in a 0-0 tie. The Illini made 15 first downs and had three distinct scoring opportunities but couldn't capitalize. A bad pass from center spoiled Don Macchietti's field goal attempt from the 14, another drive was stalled at the Cadet nine, and a third went awry when Dike Eddleman fumbled on the 17.

Centralia, Bull Dogs' Opponent Friday, Lost to Murphysboro on Blocked Punt

The Centralia Orphans, undefeated Harrisburg's foe for the week, dropped a 6 to 0 decision to Murphysboro at Centralia Friday night because of a blocked punt.

Only score in the contest came in the second quarter and it was the lone scoring chance by either team in a bruising defensive battle. Bill Mohlenbrock, Murphy end, blocked a Centralia punt and Murphysboro had a first down on the Centralia five. Two plays by Bud Williams took the ball over.

Murphysboro made eight first downs to six for Centralia, outscored Centralia 136 yards to 95, and made 12 yards on one pass completion out of five to seven yards by

Legion Studies Resolutions On the UNESCO

MIAMI (AP) — The American Legion's foreign relations committee sought today to reconcile 13 conflicting resolutions on the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization into one the Legion as a whole will accept.

These resolutions reflected a variety of viewpoints ranging from full endorsement to rejection of a report by a 10-man special committee which said UNESCO "is not favorable to world government," and "is in no sense or no degree communist."

A committee spokesman said the Legion convention might refuse to endorse the report although denouncing it might be interpreted as criticism of President Eisenhower's foreign policies.

The controversy within the Legion was touched off in 1953 when the Legion executive committee charged that "Communists have infiltrated into the United Nations" and used UNESCO "to corrupt the minds of our children."

While committeemen struggled to sidestep a possible floor fight later this week most Legionnaires prepared for their main convention show piece, a seven-hour parade starting this afternoon.

The 50,000 Legion delegates Monday night heard Sen. Walter F. George follow up an international key note sounded earlier in the day by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. Both said Russia's peaceful "new look" will not lure the United States into premature disarmament.

The Georgia Democrat who heads the Senate Foreign Relations committee said the nation's own security remains its "first great primary objective" and declared, "we will not let down our guard" as long as any uncertainty exists.

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Emil (Dutch) Leonard, former major league pitcher, has been named to the recreation staff of the Illinois Youth Commission, it was announced today.

Lane Seeks First Swap to Rebuild Cardinals; Will Confer with Reds on Deal

By United Press
Fast-dealing Frank Lane, whose mammoth player trades built the Chicago White Sox into a pennant contender, is shooting for his first swap as the new general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Lane, hired by the Cardinals last Thursday, was scheduled to confer about a possible player deal today with Gabe Paul, general manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs. The Cards' new front office boss has tabbed "pitching, adequate catching, and a regular first baseman" as his team's most pressing needs.

Cincinnati could be in a position to supply some of these needs. In particular, the Redlegs have a solid three-man catching staff in Smokey Burgess, Hobie Landrith, and Matt Batts and might be persuaded to part with any of the three.

Lane is expected to announce the Cardinals' 1955 manager Wednesday, and it's reliably reported that "the man" will be Freddie Hutchinson, former manager of the Detroit Tigers. Hutchinson, present Manager Harry Walker, and a third unidentified man are the candidates under consideration, but Hutchinson reportedly has the inside track.

Flurry of Activity

Meanwhile, the swift approach of Oct. 15 on the calendar brought a flurry of activity from their big league clubs regarding players. On Oct. 15, big-league rosters will be "frozen" at 40 men, and any players not on the roster then will be subject to the annual major and minor league player draft in December.

The world champion Brooklyn Dodgers, who insist they won't "stand pat" on the squad that won the World Series, made their first change when they sold Frank Kellert to the Chicago Cubs for an estimated $15,000 and a player to be designated later.

Kellert, a combination first baseman and outfielder, was the Dodgers' No. 1 right-handed pinch-hitter this year, appearing in 39 games to compile an excellent .325 batting average with 19 runs batted in. He pinch-batted three times during the World Series and collected one single.

The Cubs also brought up two farmhands from Des Moines, where they were named to the Western league all-star team. They were second baseman Bob McKee, a .278 batter, and pitcher Gene Fodge, a righthander with a 16-10 record.

Other Clubs Change
Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, and Philadelphia were other clubs that made changes.

Cincinnati transferred three pitchers, none of whom played with them this year, to Seattle of the Pacific Coast league—Fred Baczewski, Cliff Ross, and Maurice Fisher.

The Pittsburgh Pirates obtained infielder Dick Barone, who batted .365 for Williamsport of the Eastern league, from Hollywood of the Pacific Coast league in exchange for first baseman Tony Bartiromo, who played for Burlington of the Carolina league, and pitcher Al Grunwald, who played for Mexico City of the Mexico league.

The Phillies cut their roster to 39 players by releasing five men and obtaining four. Released to Syracuse of the International league were pitchers Thornton Kipper, Paul Penson, and Tom Casagrande, catcher Jim Command, and outfielder Mel Clark. Obtained from Syracuse were outfielder Bob Bowman, catcher Joe Lonnett, and pitcher Seth Morehead. Obtained from Schenectady was pitcher Gene Snyder.

DECORATING THE NAVY CAKE is Lowden Pankey of the Pankey bakery of Harrisburg, who on a trip to the West coast to visit his Navy son was entertained royally by the captain and officers of the destroyer, U.S.S. Brown, shown below. Pictured by Mr. Pankey, garbed in baker's attire, is his son, Lt. (jg) Phillip Pankey, supply officer on the destroyer. Also shown are three members of the ship's crew, R. L. Bangert, Joe O'Dwyne and Nicholas Lenhoff. The cake was baked by the Navy bakers and turned over to Mr. Pankey for the job of decorating it. The visit was made at San Diego when Mr. and Mrs. Pankey visited their son while the Brown was in dry dock. The local couple was taken all over the ship and shown every courtesy. Mr. Pankey came home greatly enthused about the Navy and the officers and crew of the Brown. In fact, he became so enthused about the Navy in general that in Pankey's Cake of the Week, he is giving a Salute to the Navy, and he plans to salute other branches of the service in the future.

Murder in Haiti

by John W. Vandercook

Distributed by NEA Service, Inc. Copyright 1955 by John W. Vandercook

It was good to be with Lynch once more. I had never seen nor heard from him—(Lynch never wrote)—for years. Now, again, this outwardly nondescript, gray-eyed, gray-suited Englishman of middle height, middle class, and middle age, had struck like a meteor across the usually serene skies of my life. So here—unexpectedly, in a high state of bewilderment, and delighted—I was.

White seagulls with pale gold markings at their throats dipped and glided just above our heads. The white wake ran out behind us. If the moment was peaceful there was at least no threat of dullness in it. By some process of persuasion I still did not comprehend Bertram Lynch, onetime chief of the Permanent Central Board of the old League of Nations, longtime operative of the British Secret Service, oft-time spy (I had deduced from his evasive silences), had got me included in this queer yacht's queerer list of passengers. Lynch was on a case.

If there was one thing certain in an uncertain world it was that this moment of repose would not last long.

"Viggo Sand," Lynch mused. "What do you know about him?"

"Very little."

"Quite. Then I'd best fill you in."

With one of his quick, oddly precise movements which, however trivial, somehow always suggested legerdemain, my friend produced a cigarette from the pockets of his gray jacket, lit it without the slightest flick in the warm wind which blew across the deck, and settled himself more comfortably against the teakwood rail.

"On a disorderly planet," he said, "which has imposed its own rigid order on most lives, Sand is almost the sole survivor of an extraordinary type. He fancies himself a 'man of mystery.' Insofar as he has any permanent address, it is the Aviz in Lisbon."

I nodded. I had once got as far as at least wondering self-consciously through the public rooms of that small, hushed, luridly overdecorated and supremely luxurious hotel in the outskirts of the Portuguese capital.

"Quite. Then that at once tells you something—" Lynch jerked his head in the general direction of the yacht's bow. "Among the guests of the Aviz have been numbered some of the most powerful men on earth. But men of a special breed. Those who use their influence—and it is immense—to keep all references to themselves out of the press, not to get them in. I've heard it said that Gulbenkian, who's worth well over a billion dollars, has literally never been photographed."

Lynch's gray eyes left my face—I am nearly a head taller—and with the cautious watchfulness which is the fixed habit of his life swiftly searched the deck in front of us. It was empty.

Lynch nodded. "It's astonishing how little I really have to tell you. Sand lets it be known that he was born in Sweden. But even that is not certain. At present, his official nationality, I believe, is Portuguese. You observe a pattern? Sand has been most rigorously—and profitably—neutral during two world wars. I know one of his bank accounts is in Tangier, another in Zurich. I do not know where else."

Lynch's usually unrevealing face was touched for a moment with pure envy.

"Sand is reputed to pay no income tax. Not anywhere. Where others barter in oil leases, Sand trades in whole sheikdoms. In the international black money market. In armament. Anything to turn a pretty million. Yet so far as we, er... that's to say I, can discover, in not one of the countries my client has frequented has he a police record. Not so much as traffic violation."

I glanced at my watch. It was time for our appointment.

"And now," I said musingly, "the romantic Mr. Sand, with—and may heaven help him—you for his private eye"—Lynch, who hates slang, closed his eyes in anguished disapproval—"and bodyguard, and me for helper, sails y-o-ho for the West Indies in search of buried treasure. One at least observes a change of pace."

We had begun to saunter forward over the spotless deck in the direction of Sand's cabin. Lynch stopped and gave me an odd look.

"That is the information we have. Scanty though it was. Sand and these singular people who're with him are on their way to the Caribbean. Where precisely, I don't know. His purpose—this much he has told me—is to recover a sum of money. It must be a very large one or it would not interest Viggo Sand. I believe it is in specie," Lynch smiled.

"I take it it is buried, or at least concealed, for I assume few people simply leave large sums lying about. As to its being pirate treasure, remember, our planet has been beset by other pirates than the buccaners."

The suite of the Vittoria's owner, entered by a door marked with a discreet "A," extended all the way across the ship directly below the bridge. The English steward in a white jacket who opened to our knock was as professionally commonplace as Lynch himself.

Viggo Sand did not rise when we came in. He had on a perfectly tailored suit of immaculate white flannel, a white silk shirt and a Nile green tie.

Lynch led me forward with uncharacteristic bustle.

"This is Mr. Deane, Sir. Or perhaps I should say Professor Deane. When you suggested, Mr. Sand, it might be a sound idea if I was to have an associate, as I told Mr.

Supreme Court Agrees to Give Decision on General Motors, Dupont Combine

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two of the nation's giant industrial empires—the General Motors and Dupont corporations—faced a renewed legal battle today to escape a government-ordered shake-up of billion-dollar stock holdings.

In a major victory for the Justice Department, the Supreme Court Monday agreed to decide whether the two corporations are illegally interlocked and are combining to restrain trade.

Federal Judge Walter J. La Buy of Chicago ruled last May after an 18-month hearing that evidence failed to back up the government's contention that Dupont controls GM as GM's largest single stockholder. Dupont owns 23 per cent of GM's outstanding stock, a holding valued at more than two-billion dollars.

The Supreme Court will hear arguments on the case within a few months and later hand down a decision sure to have wide repercussions in the financial world.

Over 300 Cases

More than 320 other cases were acted on by the Supreme Court Monday. Thirty-nine were accepted for review. The rest were rejected.

In its first opinion of the new term, the court ordered the University of Alabama to admit two Negro students who had been denied admission since 1952.

In other actions the high bench: Dismissed a federal government request that it settle a dispute over Louisiana's claim to oil-rich submerged lands 10.5 miles seaward. The government wanted the court to set the boundary at three miles. The action leaves the government free to bring a separate suit in a lower federal court.

Accepted for review a case that may bring a landmark decision on the job rights of Communists in private industry. The Bio-Lab Union (Ind.), of Cutter Laboratories, Berkeley, Calif., appealed from a state court decision that employment of Communists is "against public policy." The union said the

Senate Postal Group Probes Job Sale Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Post Office Department today branded as "totally incorrect" a senator's charge that postmasters in eight states have been removed illegally for political purposes.

Chairman Olin D. Johnston of the Senate Post Office committee announced Monday night that his group is conducting investigations in the eight states to determine whether postal jobs are being sold "to replenish the coffers of the local Republican committees."

Johnston said the committee has information indicating that postmasters and postal employees jobs in Texas and some other states "have been sold to the highest bidder."

"There is also much evidence indicating that the sale of rural mail carrier jobs in many areas is being used as a device to replenish the coffers of the local Republican committees," he said.

Norman R. Abrams, assistant postmaster general, disputed the need for a committee investigation. He said that if Johnston "has any information of the type alleged in his statement given to the press," the department itself would be glad to investigate, and would see that "any guilty persons" are prosecuted.

Besides Texas, the committee inquiry will cover Michigan, California, Illinois, Missouri, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and North Carolina. Johnston said hearings will be held in some local communities.

North Dakota was organized as a territory March 2, 1861 and entered the union Nov. 2, 1889 as the 39th state.

Proposes Congress Bar Mississippi Legislators Until Negroes Get Vote

NEW YORK (AP)—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. (D-NY) said today he hopes to present a resolution at the 1957 session of Congress to bar Mississippi legislators from their congressional seats until all Negroes "have the right to vote" in that state.

In a speech at a labor rally, the Negro congressman said a recent tour of Africa and Europe led him to believe that no single incident has caused as much damage to American prestige abroad as the murder of Emmett Till, a Chicago Negro, in Mississippi. He said it was clear that "the recent wave of lynching in Mississippi" is a terror campaign "organized by the entrenched white leadership to keep Negroes from voting and from gaining first class citizenship."

Folger's is the one coffee specially made to give you MORE FLAVOR PER CUP

Folger's starts with more than good coffee. They choose only Mountain-Grown coffees, coffees that nature makes richer, heartier, more flavorful. They blend and prepare them with a unique century-old Folger "touch." And they blend to a flavor, not to a formula.

That's why Folger's gives you a richer more vigorous flavor, a distinctive, uniform flavor that coffee experts say has never been equalled. Have you tried Mountain-Grown Folger's lately?
